BROOKLYN, 4: NEW YORK, 3. Whenever the New Yorks and Brooklyns meet upon the ball field there is generally a bat tle to the death. Such was the outcome of their first meeting of the season at Eastern Park yesterday, and it took ten stubbornly fought inpings to decide the question of supremacy. It was a contest in which two human catapults Jouett Meekin and Perk Kennedy, hurled the ball to their catchers with such terrible speed and puzziing curves that base hits in the first half of the game were few and far between Then, toward the end, the strain began to tell upon both men, and it developed into a case of luck and splendid support until the winning yun was scored by the Brooklyns. The fielding was of the finest description. The only errors were two poor throws by Farrell and Grim. Van Haltren distinguished himself by pulling down no less than seven fly balls, and Shoch covered second base for Brooklyn in the eleverest manner imaginable. Meekin pitched the whole game with a bandage around his split finger, which makes his performance highly creditable. It was ladies' day, and Brooklyn' pretty women turned out in large numbers The Simon-pure cranks were there, too, num. bering close to 6,000, and the game suited them so well that there was very little grumbling. even by the New Yorkers.

The New Yorks were sent to the plate first and could do nothing with Kennedy, who threw and could do nothing with Kennedy, who threw CLEVELAND, June 18.—Cy Young proved a stumbling out both H. Davis and Tiernan, while G. Davis block for Anson's Colis to-day, only four hits being the delivery up to the night inning. The flied to Griffin. The Brooklyns, too, retired in order, Jones and Corcoran on outfield files an order, Jones and Corcoran on outfield files and Griffin on a bounder to G. Davis.

Van Haltren was settled by Corcoran in the second, and pop files from Gleason and Connaughton were neatly caught by Shoch. With three balls and nostrikes called on Lachance in the last half, Meekin made the big first baseman cut the air thrice. G. Davis then gathered in Shindle's high foul over near the bleachers in fine style, and Anderson nailed a liner to centre, which Van Haltren misjudged. "Andy" fell down at first base and only reached third, whereas if he had kept his feet he could have made the circuit. Shoch received four balls, and on a bluff steal he drew a throw from Farrell, which Gleason returned to the rubber, however, in time to stop Anderson, who tried to score.

and on a bust stean no drew a throw from Farrell, which Gieason returned to the rubber, however, in time to stop Anderson, who tried to Boore.

In the third, after Clark had been thrown out by Corcoran, Farrell waited for his base and got it. Then, as Meekin's third strike was caught, Grim doubled up Farrell, who was jogging easily toward second. Foutz's men also received another blank, Grim and Kennedy flyling out to Van Haltren, and Jones receiving four bails and stealing second on Farrell's poor throw, where he was left on Griffin's bounder to Connaughton.

The game of cipher continued in New York's fourth. H. Davis flied to Anderson, Shoch made a pretty stop of G. Davis's swift lawn mower, and Tiernan walked to first on balls, ouly to be left on Van Haltren's high fly to Griffin. The Brooklyns were easy victims, too, to Meekin's swift pitching, Corcoran being thrown out by the stalwart twirler, Farrell making a superb jumping catch of Lachance's line foul and Tiernan pulling in Shindle's fly.

When Gleason, first up, took four balls in the fifth it looked like a good start. He was nearly sacrificed to second by Connaughton, but he couldn't come home, as Shoch handled ground hits from Clark and Farrell with neatcess and despatch. Anderson began Brooklyn's half with a clean base hit to centre, the second safe drive secured off Meekin. He ran to second on Shoch's sacrifice bunt, and when he attempted to steal third Farrell's throw nailed him apparently a yard from the bag. In fact, Anderson is led into G. Davis, who had the ball and was standing on the base line, but to the surprise of the New York rootors the umpire called him safe. Then Grim hit to G. Davis, and Anderson was caught between third and home. He might have scored, too, but just as Meekin dropped the ball Anderson's legs became tangled and he fell down. He scrambled to his feet, but Meekin had recovered timed fand touched him out. Then Kennedy flied to Van Haltren, and the figures were still to to 0.

to 0. Meekin opened the sixth with New York's lear his a beautiful single to right. Harry Davis mrat nit, a beautiful single to right. Harry Davis tried to sacrifice twice and then struck out. Jones hauled in G. Davis's long fly, and Tiernan rapped a single to centre, Meekin geing to third and Mike skipping to second on the throw to fibindle. Here was a chance to send in two much-needed runs, and Van Haitren was regarded as the right man in the right place. But Kennedy let out an extra bag of speed, and the tail Californian struck out, the last two attempts being foul tips, which nestled in Grim's bir mit tilke eggs in a basket. The Brooklyns broke the lee at last with one run in their haif of this inning. Jones took a base on bails and raced to third on Griffin's hot base hit past Clark. "Griff' stole second on a short passed bail, and on Corcepans fly to Van Haitren Jones sprinced home. Lachance was thrown out by G. Davis, and Griffin, who took third, tried to score on the play, but was senily nipped.

This very small advantace didn't hast long thought the seventhal hay of Griffin. After Gleason and Connaughton had filed out. Bill Clark and Farrell shot singles into right field, the former player landing on third. Then Farrell blutfed to stenl second, and Griffin, instead of holding the bail, threw it over Corcovan's head, and Clark waiked in with the run. Then Meekin field to Jones and things were even up again. Meekin kept up his speed in the last half and the "Brooks" were like putty in his hands. Shindle field to Van Haitren, Anderson struck out, Shech accepted four halls and was left, Grim sending a weak fly to Clark.

Joy came to the New York shouters in the eighth, for riwin's men took the lead. Harry Davis learan the proceedings with a corking three-banger to right, Shoch handled G. Davis's bounder so deftly that Harry had to hing third, but the next moment he tailled when Tiernan amashed a hot liner through Kennedy, which Shoch fielded finely to Lachance in time to retire Mike, Van Haitren prevented a run in Brooklyne shoth, and here were head of the firm of the result of the firm of the procee double play, in which Gleason figured as the middle man.

Ten innings were now necessary to decide the battle, and when the Harlem crew were blanked, the rooters for Foutz's fortunes worked their lungs, arms and feet to bring a victory. Kennedy hit a solid single to left and Jones forced him at second. Griffin's hot one to Gleason, which was an out, put Jones on third. It all depended on Corcoran. Two men were out, and Meckin began to work the inside corner of the plate, a plan of action that had hitherto puzzled Thomas. But this time luck was in the game, for Corcoran hit a twisting fly with the handle of his bat and the ball few out near the right foul line. Therman, Clark, and Gleason rushed for it, with the full knowledge that it had fate with it. Down fell the ball, quickly, surely to mother earth before the trio of New Yorkers could reach it, and as it landed six taches inside the chalk line Jones ran home Berryhill of the Wilmington team made a remark to President Freedman yesterday, the latter refused to allow the Atlantic League game at the Polo grounds to proceed until the ball player left the ground. Cronin made his first appearance in the box for the home team and made an excellent impression, the visiting players only securing two clean lits. Foster's errors were costly, the Wilmingtons scoring four runs on the misplays. The score:

Other Games,

PRINCETON, 4: HARVARD, 2. CAMBRIDGE, June 18.-Princeton again defeated Harvard on the home grounds to-day and again it required more than the regulation nine innings for her to do it. For nine innings nine innings for her to do it. For nine innings it was nip and tuck, and when the tenth began the score was 2 to 2. The 6,000 spectators looked for a repetition of the remarkable struggle of May 30. These after two men were out a curious and for Harvard a fatal accident occurred which gave Princeton the life sho wanted to score the winning runs. That tenth inning is the one which will be remembered by those who saw the game to-day. The game as a whole was rather devoid of interesting features. Relley opened the last inning for Princeton by going out on an easy one to Haughton. Then Titus got a hit to centre. Alian drove one out to left, which Itand just succeeded in capturing and held Titus on first. Wilson hit a hot one to Chandler, who tagged second, and the crowd thought Princeton's chance was over, but Capt. Bradley saw Wilson's hit touch Umpire O'Rourke's trousers leg and he claimed his point and got it. Smith was equal to the emergency with a three-bager, which brought both men in. Harvard went out in one-two-three order and the game was over. Wilson deserves the highest praise for his work in the box. He was cool at all times, and, though he hit a little harder than Paine, he was was most effective when he had most need. Princeton played good ball most of the time, but her outfield showed poor judgment in several instances. Princeton scored two and Harvard one in the first. The game was uninteresting after that until the tenth. The score: it was nip and tuck, and when the tenth began game was uninteresting after that until the tenth. The score:

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR OPENING BROOKLYN'S NEW CYCLE PATH. Applications from Nearly Two Hundred Clubs to Take Part in the Parade Rave Already Been Beccived—A Great Entry List for the Atalanta Wheelmen's Meet. The Good Roads Association of Brooklyn expect that between 10,000 and 12,000 bicycle riders will take part in the parade on the new cycle path on the Concy Island Boulevard on June 27. The committee has completed all arrangements for the affair. The headquarters of the grand marshal will be at Eastern Parkway; and Bedford avenue, where all division and staff officers must report before 10 o'clock. There will be three divisions, the first consisting of the Long Island clubs, the second of New York, New Jersey, and visiting clubs, and the third of unattached wheelmen. The parade will form as follows: First division on south side of Eastern Parkway, facing north, with the right resting on Bedford avenue, and the line extending toward the Park. Second division will form on the north side of Eastern Parkway, facing south, with the left resting on Bedford avenue, and the line extending to-ward the Park. The third division will form on the plaza, with the right resting on the arch. The formation will be in columns of fours. The assembly will sound at 2 o'clock, and the several divisions will be ready to mov

The line of march will be through the main entrance of the Park, to the West Drive, to the Nethermede Drive, to the East Drive, through gate three, through Fort Hamilton avenue, opposite the parade ground, pass over the Circle, and enter directly upon the new return pathway. The reviewing stand will be at Avenue C. Decorated wheels and fancy costumes will not be allowed in the parade, and smoking will not be permitted. Although the entries do not close until next Saturday, applications for positions have been received from nearly 200 clubs. The Fourteenth precinct police of Brooklyn will have twenty-five men in the parade.

The largest individual entry ever received by any cycling organization of the Metro-politan district has been recorded by the Atalanta Wheelmen of Newark for their meet at Waverly Park to-morrow. Exactly 240 individual entries have been accepted, making a total list in all events of almost 600 names, In the novice race 101 riders will compete The one-mile handicap has brought out 145 aspirants, and sixteen crews are entered in aspirants, and sixteen crews are entered in the tandem race. This should prove one of the prettiest races of the day. The unprecedented entry list will necessitate the running of numerous heats, but the track, a half-mile trotting course, which has been scraped as hard as a floor, is sixty feet wide. One of the principal attractions of the meet will be Peter Berlo and his "quint." The big machine will pace Berlo for a mile against time, and the crew will also ride an exhibition mile. Two professional events are on the card. Among the entries are Berlo, Eaton Crooks, Callaiana, Satniers, Mayo, Van Emburgh, Blauvelt, Mosher, and Hosmer. In the amateur events almost every rider of prominence in the Metropolitan district is entered.

A big Western firm engaged in the manufacture of bleycle tires has decided to award a number of valuable prizes for the best second performances upon the track and road made this season. The only restriction made about the award is the stipulation that the seconds must be accessed by the League of American Wheelmen. The prizes for the different performances are as follows:

are as follows:

The Connecticut division of the League of American Wheelmen will hold its annual meet at Bridgeport on Saturday, July 4, under the auspices of the Bridgeport Wheel Club. The races will be held at the new track at Fleasure Beach. A business meeting of the division officers will be held on the morning of July 4. The list of the races, including the division championships, are as follows: Professional—One mile, prizes $75, $50, $25; one mile, handicap, prizes $75, $50, $25; Amateur—One mile, handicap; two-thirds mile, open; one mile, Statechampionship of the League of American Wheelmen; two-mile tandem. In the amateur events the prizes will consist of diamonds, watches, and medals.

Special prizes will also be offered for the best track records. Cuclers' News of London in a recent issue comments on the pacing situation in England as follows:

Would-be record breakers are being confronted with a growing avil—the avarcity in this country of really good pacemakers. This is hardly surpraing, considering the speed nevessary now to in any way touch any of the shorter distance records. So far it is pretty generally agreed the crack pacemaking teams on hand in London at the present time could be counted on the finers of one band, and small wonder that these practically hold the menopoly and charge accordingly. No wonder our cracks have to go over to France to beat records. NOTES.

WILL BE A BAITLE OF STROKES. Capt. Bob Cook's Opinion of Yale's Race Against the Englishmen.

LONDON, June 18.-Bob Cook, the coach of the Yale crew, in an interview with a repre-sentative of the United Press at Henley this norning upon the subject of the criticisms of the English press and oarsmen on the style of the Yale crew, said:
"I am surprised at the body swing employed by the English oarsmen. I prefer the English catch to that of Yale, however, and we shall work up that point chiefly. We shall not change Yale's stroke, and the training of the crew here will be the same as that in America. There is no chance of overtraining, and the race alone vill decide the advantage of the body swing The race will be a battle of strokes." Bob Cook talked with the utmost freedom and without the slightest hesitancy in his expression of opinion. The Vale paramen were out on the water at 10:15 o'clock this morning and rowed for an hour. They were coached by Bob Cook, who rode on horseback along the bank of the river. The men worked upon lengthening out their stroke in the water, using more time in recovering. They rowed at the rate of twenty-seven strokes a minute, Hob Cook said after the practice that the men had been fairly successful at their new work. The weather was quite warm, but the rowers were in excellent spirits. They were out again at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon and worked an hour. The men went over the course twice, the first time at a stroke of twenty-six to the minute and the second at the Trinity Hall stroke of twency-four to the minute. Hob Cook expressed himself as pleased with the day's work, which was better than that of yesterlay. The Englishmen are noticing this improvement, and it is making them uneasy. English oursmen and others express surprise at the skilful and graceful way in which the Yale men handle their boat when putting it into the water, and highly praise their personal appearance. The Americans certainly look well in their uniforms.

Another invitation has been received by Yale from the Hamburg Regatta Committee, asking the crew to take part in the races at Hamburg, the invitation, however, has not been accepted. Capt. Treadway wants to go to Hamburg, but he will not be able to hold the men together long enough to take part in the races there. All the interest of the Yale men is centered in the Henley Regatta. The men worked upon lengthening out their LONDON, June 18 .- The Sportsman says that he Leander Boat Club's eight which will contest at Henley for the Grand Challenge Cup is made up entirely of members of Oxford crews who have previously been victorious over Cam-bridge crows. The strongest of the other oppo-nents of the Yale crew will be the eights of New College, Oxford, and Trinity Hail, Cambridge.

NINE CREWS AT WORK.

Lively Practice by the 'Varsity and Freshmen Oarsmen at Poughkeepsle. POUGHKEEPSIE, June 18.—The river front for miles north of this city presented a pretty epectacle this morning. The water was of glassy smoothness, and nine college crews were rowing upon it at the same time. Columbia and Harvard's two crews each practised along the upper end of the course, while Pennsylvania's two crews and the three boats of Cornell gave life to the lower half of the four-mile stretch. The ornell triplets started from their boat house at 11 o'clock, followed by Courtney on the launch, The crows started even, but when the two-mile point was reached the 'varsity led, with the freshmen two lengths benind and the crew of substitutes some ten lengths in the rear. The 'varsity eight rowed thirty-two strokes to the minute, and the other two crews each thirty. Mumford coached both of the Harvard crews this morning, going out in the coxswain's seat of both boats at different times. He prefers to coach this way. The Cambridge men are mak-ing a still hunt, keeping as much in seclusion as possible.

The Columbia isunch was out of order again this morning and the Queen City had to be used by Coach Putnam. The Columbias practised starts and spurts again, and binde work received some attention. The chances of the Pennsylvania carsmen for winning the 'varsity race may not be so rosy as the other crew's, but they are confident of a place in the freshmen race next Wednesday.
